Britain, Italy, Germany Protest Loyalist Raids Against Neutral Ships

British Stand Emphasizes to Berlin, Rome That Their Demands to Spain Were Justified—Safety Also Sought.

NO SIDES TAKEN

Anglo Government Endeavoring to Reform Framework of International Committee.

By the Associated Press.
London, June 1—Great Britain joined Germany and Italy today in protesting Spanish government violence against neutral shipping—apparently as a measure to bolster Europe's peace.

The British stand, well-informed sources believed, was calculated to give reassurance to Berlin and Rome that their demands against the Spanish government were justified.

At the same time it was intended to obtain safety of shipping through the creation by the Spanish government of safety zones for neutral warships.

British spokesmen reiterated that the government was not taking sides in the controversy but was striving only to reform the framework of the international "hands off Spain" committee, now weakened by Italian and German withdrawals following the bombing of a German pocket battleship.

Simultaneously the British foreign office lodged a protest with the Spanish government because an aerial bomb, of the type that Saturday hit the German pocket battleship Deutschland and precipitated grave events, barely missed the British H. M. S. Hardy off Palma, Mallorca, on May 26.

The Hardy is a flotilla leader. The protest was relayed by the British Charge D'Affairs at Valencia. He received in turn the Spanish government's apparent readiness to establish a "safety zone" for neutral warships off Palma.

Meeting Postponed.

A meeting of the international non-intervention committee was postponed until a plan can be found under which angry Germany and her ally, Italy, are willing to return to the fold.

There still were fears the Spanish government, infuriated by German warship shelling of the Spanish port city of Almeria, might take to precipitate action that would endanger the peace of Europe.

Despite the German government's assertion that the avenging attack of the Nazi warships on the ancient Mediterranean city had closed her quarrel with the Valencia government, observers feared the possibility of renewed conflict.

At least 20 persons were killed, including five women and a child, and upwards of 100 injured in the retaliation for the bombing of the German cruiser Deutschland by warplanes of the Spanish government.

Valencia Protests.

Valencia immediately protested to the League of Nations declaring the attack on Almeria "an act of aggression."

What action Valencia might be planning to back up its strongly worded note of protest was not disclosed, but observers in London considered the possibility it might take the form of a formal declaration of war against Germany.

Close observers of the tense European situation growing out of the ten-months old Spanish civil war scouted the idea that any of the great powers were seeking to extend the conflict outside the peninsula. But, at the same time, they were aware that statesmen of all countries concerned were on dangerous ground where questions of national honor and prestige were involved and that the method which one observer termed "the old testament doctrine of an eye for an eye" might be adopted again.

Grim Irony

A grim irony was underlying the crisis in the fact that it was precipitated by the bombing of a ship assigned to the international patrol to prevent the spread of the Spanish war to other nations of Europe.

Germany and Italy immediately withdrew from the patrol and the deliberations of the non-intervention committee in London, demanding full guarantees of protection for their warships before they would again return to the group of nations that have agreed to hold "hands off Spain."

Britain and France bent their most determined efforts to wooing the two departing nations back into the non-intervention fold before some fresh act of aggression or reprisal blew the lid so far off the boiling Spanish kettle it could not be found.

Their first efforts were reported to be meeting with success with Germany favorable to a scheme for setting up guaranteed safety zones where patrolling foreign warships might go to rest their crews and to refuel.

MICKEY COCHRANE'S CONDITION UNCHANGED

New York, June 1 (AP)—Mickey Cochrane's condition was unchanged today. The Detroit catcher and manager who is at a hospital here, with a fractured skull received in a game with the Yankees last week, was considered much improved by doctors, yesterday, and spent a quiet night.

This is a general view of the Spanish seaport of Almeria, shelled by German warships to avenge an air attack on the pocket battleship Deutschland. Almeria has a population of 50,000 and is situated on the Mediterranean coast, east of Gibraltar.

Common Council Meets Tonight; Action Expected On Crossing Elimination

2 Batteries to Show How Artillery, Plane Work at Woodstock

It is expected that the Common Council will take some action on the elimination of the Broadway crossing of the West Shore Railroad at its regular meeting this evening at the city hall when various petitions calling for the crossing elimination will be presented to the aldermen. Just what action will be taken is not known.

Last year at the time public hearings were held on the crossing elimination there was very little interest displayed by the general public in the matter; the only interest being shown by property owners whose properties would be affected by the elimination.

With the recent tragic accident still fresh in the public mind it is expected that there will be a large attendance of interested citizens at the meeting this evening to see what action, if any, the council will take in this matter.

An inquest in the deaths of Firemen Preston DeWitt and Peter A. Carey, who were killed when the fire truck they were riding was in collision with a train on the crossing, will be held on Thursday morning at the court house, commencing at 10 o'clock. Coroner Lester DuBois will preside at the inquest, and a number of witnesses will be examined.

The commanding officer in the problem will be Capt. C. N. Behrens, executive officer of the first battalion.

The usual procedure is for the fire battery, in this case Battery A, to set its guns in position, while the communication battery, Headquarters Battery, will set out panels on the ground indicating the location of the firing battery to the airplane.

The plane then will fly over the "base piece," or key gun and straight out to the target. When over the target the plane will zoom upward sharply indicating to the officers at the observation post the location of the target. This target for range and direction will be worked out so that the guns may be sighted correctly. When the guns have been aimed the signals will be displayed on the ground by means of panels that the battery is ready to fire. At this time the plane will climb to sufficient altitude to observe the effect of fire and when the plane is ready the ship will signal by a wiggling of the wings. The battery will then fire one gun and the plane will drop a parachute telling how near the target the shell struck.

This procedure will be continued until the target is struck and the mission of the artillery will be accomplished.

According to Martin F. Comeau, chairman of the Woodstock committee in charge of this event, the artillery units will arrive at Woodstock in time to be set in place for action scheduled to begin at 7:30.

Before the event is completed the units will proceed along the main highway to Bearsville, then back to Woodstock, where they will halt at the town square for a brief period; thence to Rilesey's bridge and back to Kingston.

736 New Laws So Far with 350 More
Before Lehman

Albany, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—More laws appear likely to be placed on New York's statute books this year than for any similar period.

With five days left to consider about 350 bills approved by the 1937 Legislature, Governor Lehman thus far has enacted into law 736 proposals—244 short of the all-time high of 980 set in 1935. Last year, there were 944.

The executive announced over the week-end the signing of 56 bills and the veto of 22 others.

One of the most important bills signed is designed to prevent "child marriages," requiring city and town clerks—when doubting ages—to demand a birth certificate from the marriage license applicants.

Assemblyman Harold Ehrlich introduced the bill.

New York already requires written consent of the parents or guardians of marriage applicants if the male is between the ages of 16 and 21 years, and the woman between 14 and 18.

Other new laws:

Appropriate an additional $300,000 for New York's participation in the federal flood control program. (Last year, $275,000 was allotted.)

Appropriate $10,000 to the temporary state flood control commission for administration expenses.

Authorize submission to the November electorate of a $40,000,000 bond issue to finance improvements from 1938 to 1940 to buildings such as hospitals for the insane and charitable and correctional institutions.

Appropriate $15,000 for a temporary state commission to study the prevalence and facilities for treatment of cancer within the state.

Legalize Sunday bowling, after 2 p.m., the same as baseball.

Authorize $10,000 for state care of inmates paroled from the state training school for boys at Warwick who have "not fit parents, relative, guardian or friend to whom they can be paroled."

Remove from the penal law the provision that persons guilty of pool selling, bookmaking or wagering are punishable by imprisonment in a penitentiary or county jail for not more than one year.

Make carnal abuse of a child between 10 and 16 years of age a felony where there has been a previous conviction on "sex" crimes.

Lehman vetoed a bill which would have prevented the civil service commission from setting up educational requirements as a condition of taking a civil service examination.

Other measures disapproved would have:

Restored to the education law the requirement—once held invalid by the Court of Appeals—that New York pharmacies and drug stores must be owned by licensed men.

Required a successful bidder for state printing to prove he is lawfully entitled to use the display upon all printed matter the Allied Printing Trades Council label of the International Allied Printing Trades Association.

SEARCH IN VAIN FOR
HIT-AND-RUN Driver

A car driven by an Albany man was forced off the road and turned over near Willow about 2 o'clock Monday morning, the man's wife being slightly injured so as to necessitate treatment by Dr. Quinn of Phoenixia.

The car that caused the trouble went on without stopping. Trooper Raymond Dunn notified the Kingston Police Department to watch out for a brown sedan showing signs of having been in an accident and spent several hours trying to trace the car, but without success.

HELD FOR HEARING ON DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGE

John Clark, 22, of 204 Sylvan avenue, Leonia, N. J., was arrested at Phoenixia Monday by Trooper Raymond Dunn on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Rawson Lapo Kills Self Monday, 6 p.m., At O'Neil St. House

Rawson Lapo, 53, was found fatally wounded in the bedroom of his home, 132 O'Neil street, shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening by neighbors who had heard the report of the two shots, fired from a double shotgun. As they rushed into the bedroom they found Lapo on the bed with his back against the wall and the shotgun on his lap. He had made a necktie to the trigger of the gun, pulling the tie to discharge the weapon. He had fired two shots into his chest and was bleeding profusely.

The Conner ambulance was called and rushed the wounded man to the Kingston Hospital, where he died from the effects of the wounds about 15 o'clock that evening.

The three women and the man who found Lapo propped against his bed were Mrs. Mary McMorris of 130 O'Neil street, Mrs. Orlando Ostrander of New Paltz, Mrs. Hattie Hutton of 133 O'Neil street, and David Ennial of 134 O'Neil street. They told Sergeant James V. Simpson of the police department, who investigated the shooting, of conditions as they found them.

At the hospital two wads of paper from the bullet loads were taken from Lapo's body.

Sergeant Simpson was informed that the man's wife had heard the shot first and had rushed to the bedroom there to find her husband on the floor and she had called to the four others who had entered the room.

Coroner Norvin R. Lasher of Saugerties was called, and pronounced death due to suicide and turned the body over to Undertaker Victor N. Lasher of Woodstock. The dead man is survived by his wife, Mrs. Melania Lapo, and three brothers, Clarence and Adelbert Lapo, of Woodstock, and Benson Lapo of Shady.

Mr. Lapo, who had been a resident of Kingston for nine years, was employed as a carpenter by Harry Swart, contractor and builder, of O'Neil street.

Lawyer Lane Calls On Former Teacher

Attorney Charles H. Lane of New York city, who is a former president and present member of the Board of Education of New Rochelle, where he resides, spent the Memorial Day holiday in this city with his son, Homer Lane, a student at Columbia University. Mr. Lane is a former resident of Kingston, residing at one time on Pearl street and also on Crown street.

While here he and his son stopped at the Governor Clinton Hotel. An interesting incident of his visit here was his call on Miss Elizabeth DeWitt, a retired school teacher residing in Hurley. Miss DeWitt is the only living member of the faculty of old Grade School No. 11, when Mr. Lane attended that school and she taught him when he was a member of the third grade back in 1894. Mr. Lane graduated from old Kingston Academy in 1903. He practices law and has his offices at 80 Maiden Lane in New York city. He is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lane.

While a student at old Kingston Academy he was a member of the football team and active in athletics at the school. He stated that Kingston has grown since he last saw it.

"The old town just looks wonderful," said Mr. Lane on Monday when seen at the hotel. He said that one of the high lights in his visit this year will be his call on Miss DeWitt, who taught him 45 years ago when he was a lad.

Telephone Service Direct to North Pole

Moscow, June 1 (AP)—Direct telephone service to the North Pole started late last night.

Soviet explorers close to the pole talked with their wives in Moscow on a direct two-way radio telephone hook-up established at 11:35 p.m. (4:35 E. S. T.), after several days experimentation.

The radio telephone aboard Mihail Vodopjanoff's plane was used.

Previously the Comintern station in Moscow broadcast a special program for the polar band, sending them news reports of the Spanish Civil War and a special concert.

EVEN AIR CANNOT ESCAPE FROM MINT*Electric Devices Protect San Francisco Fortress.

San Francisco, Calif.—Within the next few months the federal government expects to occupy its new $1,000,000 mint here, guaranteed by its designers and constructors to be the most burglarproof and bulletproof construction of its kind ever erected.

It will replace the famous old mint that has been one of the curiosities of San Francisco for half a century. It will take the center of minting interests out of the downtown section of the city to the top of a rocky summit, where natural surroundings have contributed with the latest architectural genius in making the mint safe.

The new mint will be virtually automatically defensive against a burglar or a raiding party. It is so equipped that defenders will be able to call out not only the San Francisco fire and police departments but the army stationed at the Presidio.

Besides being burglarproof it is declared to be virtually inaccessible even for a fly.

Windows Bulletproof.

Among a few of the safety gadgets that are being installed are bulletproof windows, thick as a man's thumb but with openings just large enough to let machine guns protrude. Then there is the automatic tear-gas machinery for flooding the entire establishment.

Tunneling into such a building is believed to have been circumvented not only by the architectural precautions taken in its foundations but by the fact that it is located on top of a hillock of solid rock that could hardly be "tunneled" short of constant dynamiting.

The vast burglar alarm system is declared to be the most extensive protective measure of its kind ever installed in a mint.

There will be only two entrances to the building—one in the front and one in the rear—and each will be protected by a barred guard room. The bronze doors will be operated electrically.

According to mint officials, if any untoward incident should occur the mint department will act in the following manner:

Alarms will be flashed automatically throughout the building.

A short-wave radio station will call the San Francisco police department and mobilize the United States troops stationed at the Presidio.

Tear gas automatically will spout from a dozen sources.

If the attack is at night floodlights will illuminate not only the interior but the exterior as well.

Sound Detectors Installed.

All nine of the huge vaults will be equipped with sound detectors so delicate that they can distinguish the difference between the ring of a genuine coin and a counterfeit.

Precautions even have been taken to keep the air from stealing any of Uncle Sam's gold from the new vaults.

On the top floor is being installed a giant lung—or ventilating system—which will suck all of the air of the entire mint into one room. Experience in the old mint has demonstrated that air has the bad habit of lapping up particles of gold dust and carrying them away—particles that in the long run amount to large sums.

So, in the new mint, even the air won't be allowed to escape with gold. It will be gently conducted by the mint's lung into a single room, where the dust will be allowed to settle. Then the dust will be put through a sifting operation and the gold recovered.

Explorer Plans Landing Fields at North Pole

St. Louis, Mo.—David Irwin, twenty-seven-year-old arctic explorer and native of St. Louis, has among his tentative plans for an expedition to the north pole a landing field for planes on the "top of the world."

Irwin said he got his idea from the Russian army's method of parachuting soldiers from planes. If soldiers can be dropped out of planes, he said, it should be just as easy to drop men, sleds, dogs and supplies at the pole and establish a plane base there.

Planes would not be able to land at the pole immediately because of the shifting ice, but a field could be cleared and maintained by the crew dropped there to allow a plane to land and pick up the members of the expedition when their explorations would be completed. The dogs and sleds would provide transportation back to other bases if the plane were unable to land, Irwin said.

Brush Made From Boar's Bristles Sells for $500

New York—The world's most expensive hairbrush, made of the rare, strong, beautiful bristles plucked from the neck of Siberian wild boars of 12 years and older are bringing $500 today because of the soviet government's campaign to teach citizens of the Steppes to hunt the beasts for food. Agents here were quoting the brushes at $250 a year ago. But in the succeeding twelve months the firm was able to obtain only six ounces of the precious bristles, or enough for three brushes. Their addition has brought the inventory up to nine.

WEDDING DIRECTOR*Relief from Heat Expected Soon

Albany, N. Y., June 1 (AP)—Relief from upstate New York's record breaking Memorial Day temperatures, which caused at least one heat prostration, was predicted by the weather bureau today. Official thermometer readings from western to eastern New York reached maximums ranging from the high eighties to the low nineties and shattered heat records in Syracuse and Albany.

Vincent Matolic, 45, collapsed in Lackawanna yesterday and was taken to the hospital where he was listed as a heat victim. His condition was not regarded as serious, a physician said.

In the capital district the mercury climbed to 92 degrees, the highest for May 31 in the weather bureau's 63 years.

THE WAY WE ARE

The German Nazis, like the old Bourbons, seem never to learn anything or forget anything. They keep right on protesting violently at every example of public criticism against their system in this country, and insisting that our government suppress such utterances.

It seems useless to explain to them, as our federal authorities have done patiently, that this is a land of free speech and many independent sovereignties; that the United States government has no authority over a mayor in New York or a Catholic Cardinal in Chicago; that in America
one race or political party or religious creed is considered as good as another; that some of our private citizens and public officials may talk overmuch and unwisely, and may be as disrespectful to foreign rulers as they are to their own. But that's the way we always have been, and praise God, the way we always hope to be.

It is probably very crude and vulgar of us, and shows a lamentable lack of Ziemlichkeit and discipline.
This would be a much more orderly land if our life were ironed out in a uniform and well-behaved pattern that Hitler or Mussolini could approve. But if it were, we wouldn't be happy. Moreover, the German and Italians now enjoying the blessings of Fascist rule wouldn't want to come here.

NEW MERCHANT MARINE

The new Maritime Commission, taking over its duties from the Shipping Board, gives special study to the question of developing an American merchant marine. Many matters must be carefully weighed before a definite program is undertaken. But on one point the commissioners seem agreed at the start.

There are to be no super-liners for the present and no effort to capture the imaginary "Blue Ribbon" for swiftest Atlantic crossing. The reasons for this restraint are simple.

Such ships cost too much for profitable commercial operation under existing conditions. Their cargo space is small compared with their size.

Smaller ships, of 20,000 to 25,000 tons, are greatly needed, and most members of the commission believe they should be built in considerable number before anything spectacular is attempted. There is no apparent intention, either, of building up a merchant fleet quickly. A steady and reasonable program of replacement of old vessels every year, so that in the future no great number ever will become obsolete at the same time, is the idea.

That we start with something of a handicap is suggested by the statistics on cargo vessels. The United States has replaced only one per cent of its merchant fleet in the last 10 years. Great Britain has replaced 41 per cent, Germany 31 per cent,

Japan 17 and France 15 per cent.

The temptation to speed is great, but here is a place where haste would make waste.

PEOPLE'S CHARTER

There is less talk of feminism these days in the United States, but not because women have achieved all they wanted when they obtained the franchise. That phase of their emancipation is now taken for granted, and their activity in educational, social and civic work is widely recognized and welcomed. Many people, however, have not heard of the Women's Charter, a program now being urged for legislation in all countries

"to attain social and economic objectives for women, and for society as a whole."

The charter calls for:

1. Full political and civil rights.

2. Full opportunity for work.

3. Full opportunity for education.

4. Security of livelihood.

5. Safeguarding of motherhood.

Women in this country have achieved a larger measure of the things named than women elsewhere in the world, but clearly the goal is far from won. Furthermore, even in this country, there are men as well as women not possessing full political and civil rights, or full opportunity for education and work, and certainly lacking security of livelihood. After all, that may be a charter for humanity, not merely for women.

NUTTY ABOUT TIME

The public must be growing time-conscious. With more street clocks on buildings and electric clocks in store windows, and with more watches on wrists, and so on, you'd think people would almost get to know the time without mechanical help. They don't develop this time sense, however, and they seem not to trust the many available time-pieces. At least, a telephone company which gives the correct time on request finds it is averaging 11 calls a minute through all the day's twenty-four hours.

This would be very fine if it indicated a wave of promptness in meeting business appointments, getting into a theatre or concert before the entertainment begins, and starting meetings on time, but there are painful evidences that such is not the case. So probably it is just a nervous habit, developed by the presence of timepieces on every hand and the multiplicity of timed activities in modern life.

THE CHILD WHO STUTTERS

"The other day I stood for five or ten minutes outside the door listening to David as he played in a sandbox. He made roads and tunnels and pushed wooden blocks, representing automobiles and trains, up and down and in and out, expressing his thoughts aloud without the least difficulty in speech. As soon as I made a noise, he became silent; and when I entered the room, he began to stutter and continued to do so even when he was talking to himself." I believe this single paragraph from
"The Child Who Stutters," written by Dr. Frederick W. Brown in Hygeia magazine tells the whole story as to the cause of stuttering.

As long as the child was thinking only of his play, nothing else on his mind for the time being, no one else near him, he spoke clearly, distinctly,
without the slightest trace of stuttering;

this shows that there was nothing wrong with his tongue, his lips, his vocal cords or other parts that help to form words. It proves completely that it is nervousness or self consciousness that causes the hesitation in speaking.

The child who stutters is, by nature, like every other child. At home, at school, at play, he acts and thinks and feels exactly as other children do. Physically and mentally the stutterer is frequently above the average. Emotionally he is very sensitive;
he is capable of enjoying a high degree of the finer experiences of life. Yet when he starts to talk the flow of words and thoughts is interrupted.

In his own home, with those whom he loves and is loved or with those whom he knows well and know him well, there is no trace of stuttering.
But in the presence of others—at school, at a party, speak to "girl," answer the telephone—he cannot express his thoughts in words without stuttering.

It is believed that stuttering begins: (1) under conditions of physical weakness or illness; (2) at a time of sudden or intensive emotional experience, usually of a type producing fear, anger, or anxiety; (3) in a situation in which a child imitates another stammerer, deliberately at first, and then finds that he is unable to control his own speech; (4) conflicts in the child's mind.

The treatment is evident. The child must be taught to mix with others
more, use the telephone, read aloud
in the presence of others or if possible attend one of the recognized schools for stammerers.

The Roman Toga

The Roman toga, the national garment of the Romans, was originally worn by both men and women. It was a piece of woolen cloth in the form of a segment of a circle. The chord of the arc—the straight edge—was about three times the height of the wearer, and the height a little less than one-half of this length.
One end of the garment was thrown over the left shoulder and allowed to hang down in front; the remainder was drawn round the body in various ways.

MURDER
ON THE BLUFF

By EDMUND STONE

SECRETOS: The mysterious
rushing to death of Jude Blinshop, my old flame, opens our stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts.

After a series of strange attacks,
we find the body of Michael's mad father below the bluff. Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder, then nearly dragged to death with sleeping powders. The Skipper, Mike's tall, tawdry younger aunt,

disappears and Cook takes dope.

William, the chauffeur, proves an ex-convict. I sawdust on Cook, William and Annie the maid, who are talking against Higgins, the butler, then I quiz William.

anybody," I said patiently. "I'm trying to find out what happened. Two people are dead, and if we don't want to be in their shoes, we've got to find out what happened. We won't find out anything until everybody tells all he or she knows."

I paused to gauge the effects of my words. It was considerable.

"Now," I said quietly, "did either of you straighten up William's room
after we searched it a few minutes ago? No one can hold it against you if you did. It will just keep us from running up any more blind alleys."

"No," said William earnestly. "I swear I didn't."

Annie's negative was thin and wavery but Cook's came forth torrentially.

"Very well, Cook," I said curtly.
"Annie, did you leave Miss Farrington alone—even for a second—after William came downstairs?"

Annie answered without the slightest hesitation. "No sir. Not for a second even."

Only Higgins Could—

O NE point was settled then. Almost anyone in the house might have placed those letters in William's room, but there was only one person who could have removed them—Higgins.

Everyone else was carefully checked.

Unless the Skipper was in the house!

Or either Gay or Michael was withholding them for a purpose. The only purpose that I could imagine for such an act was to conceal the fact that either had put them there.

I lost my temper. "This won't get you anywhere—
where are the letters?"

bizarre to be true, but I was to think better of it.

What did you do with those letters?" I said.

"What letters?" His face was bewildered.

"Don't be a fool," I snapped. "We searched your room just now and found the letters from your warden and from Mr. Blinshop. A few minutes later, when we came back, the letters were gone. What did you do with them?"

William's face was twisted in terror.
"As God's judge, Mr. Wells," he said, "I didn't have no such letters."

I lost my temper. "You had them or someone in your family did. I saw them. This won't get you anywhere.
The first policeman who comes into this house can have you identified.
Where are they?"

"Do you know what he's talking about?" William turned dazedly from Cook to Annie. They both shook frightened heads. "What—what was in them, sir? Where was they?"

"They were in your driving cushion," I said. Slowly, as accurately as I could, I repeated their contents. Before I was halfway through, my bewildered redoubled. As surely as I was sitting there, not one of the three had ever heard my words before. It was insane and pointless. They had absolutely nothing to gain by denials.

William voiced the conclusion that was formulating in my own mind.

It's—Crazy!"

"SOMEBODY put 'em there! Put 'em there and then swiped 'em!"

"Did you ever have such letters?" I demanded.

His eyes clouded. "I don't know. I had references from the warden and Blinshop once, but I forgot what I done with them. I think—I showed 'em to Miss Barbara when I got this job and then chuck'd 'em. It's crazy."

It was all of that. I turned to Cook.
"How long have you been down here?" I inquired.

"Hub!" Cook's heavy jaw dropped and then snapped together. "In this kitchen? I come down with Willie to git him some supper."

"Has she been here ever since?" I directed the question at William.

His face darkened. "Sure, she's been here. What do you think? You needn't try to pin anything on her, too."

"I'm not trying to pin anything on Higgins tomorrow."

New Mexicans Fear 2nd Flood Crest

Roswell, N. M., June 1 (AP)—Residents anxiously awaited the Hondo river crest today which they feared would inundate the city for the second time in four days.

A wall of water eight feet higher than that which caused a major flood last Saturday was reported sweeping down the Hondo from the west.

National Guardsmen, sworn in as "auxiliary police," patrolled the streets.

Police warned residents to draw a supply of drinking water against possibility mains would be broken. Lowland dwellers fled their homes.

Three miles north of the city, the Berendo river overflowed, driving dozens of families from their homes along its banks.

An earlier flood at Tucumcari cost seven lives.

C.J.Brown May Face Trial on Monday For Two Murders

Charles James Brown, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Handelman of Ellenville on April 8, last, may go to trial at the opening of County Court next Monday afternoon. Should this case be moved for trial at that time civil cases will have to be postponed and today Judge Traver stated that should the murder case go on civil matters might be delayed or even postponed for the term.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray has announced that he will move the murder, first degree, charge on Monday next at the opening of county court and ask County Judge Frederick G. Traver to summon an extra panel of jurors so that the case may proceed without delay.

J. Edward Conway and Robert G. Groves, defense counsel for Brown, have a motion now pending before the County Court, returnable Wednesday morning, in which they request the District Attorney to provide a bill of particulars of the specific acts which the prosecution contends constitutes the crime named in the indictment.

Should the motion be granted and the court direct the prosecution to provide the bill requested, District Attorney Murray will serve the bill promptly so as not to delay the trial. It is anticipated that Mr. Murray will move Monday afternoon for Judge Traver to summon an extra panel of trial jurors in order that once the case is begun there will be no delay.

Brown is charged by indictment with the murder, first degree, of Mr. and Mrs. Handelman at their Pine street residence in Ellenville. Handelman, an Ellenville junk man, and his wife were found practically cremated in their bedroom after Ellenville firemen had extinguished a fire.

Finding of a blood-covered piece of pinion gear in an adjacent field led the authorities to search for Brown on a murder charge. Later Brown gave himself up and made a statement in which he admitted that he had gone to the house for the purpose of robbing the Handelman home but when the occupants awoke he had struck them with a pinion gear and then in search for money lit a match. This set fire to the bedding, he is alleged to have said, and without attempting to extinguish it he left the place and the two people were practically cremated before the fire was extinguished. Brown went with his employers to Port Jervis and later to Middletown and a few days later gave himself up at the Orange County Home, where he was turned over to Sheriff Molonyaux and brought back to Ulster county.

Arraigned before Justice Kaiser in Ellenville, the negro was held for grand jury and later indicted on two first degree murder charges.

DAVID WELL CLOSES AFTER 40 YEARS BUSINESS

David Well of 16 Broadway, a resident of this city for 56 years, who has conducted a dry-goods store for the past 40 years, will close out his business on July 1.

The store, located in Rondout just three doors from the Strand on Broadway, has long been a landmark in the lower section of the city, and David Well was usually to be seen standing in the doorway with his glasses pushed on the back of his head, ready to give a cheery "Hello" to all passers-by.

A PACK of Double-Mellow OLD GOLDS is worth a minute's study. This pack comes wrapped with an EXTRA jacket of Cellophane. It's wrapped double... two jackets instead of one. But that's not all.

Notice how scientifically the two Cellophane jackets are combined... so that one jacket seals the top of the pack and the other seals the bottom. No open seams anywhere... A weather-tight, climate-proof package.

It's a miracle-worker, this package! It brings you FRESH cigarettes wherever you buy them. Whether the climate is high and dry. Whether the climate is damp and muggy.

You never find a pack of Double-Mellow OLD GOLDS all dried out by heat nor bloated to the point of sogginess by excessive moisture.

Stale cigarettes are tongue-burners and throat-stingers. But FRESH cigarettes—

There are many persons who believe that life is something we find instead of something we create. Nothing could be farther from the truth. . . . Mere existence is what you find. . . . Life, real life, must be created. . . . And it can be created by you alone.

Wife (back from shopping)—I've just found the costume I wanted, dear.

Husband—Splendid! I certainly could not have afforded to buy it for you.

It is just barely possible that embalming fluid might be termed nearer.

Hal—I planned my house out of my own head.

Fred—Yes? I suppose it was a wooden building?

The turtle is a good example—of how useless stream lines are without a good engine.

George—Did you hear about the Scotch gangster getting killed? Gerald—No. How did it happen? George—He lit a bomb and hated to throw it away.

A Father's Prayer
Dear God, be good to him and take his hand. Who never here was left one hour alone. Being so young he will not understand. A home so very different from his own; And when the shadows fall, let him kneel down Beside Your knee to say his evening prayers. And then put on him his little woolen gown And lead him, as I used to, up the stairs. And when he's tucked in bed kiss him goodnight; He knows an angel guards him night and day. So he won't cry when You turn out the light And softly close the door and go away; And then—oh, then, give courage to his dad! You took him, God, and he was all I had.

Private Detective—As instructed, madam, I have followed your husband. He went into eight dress shops, three beauty parlors, five millinery establishments, two shoe stores and—

Madam—What on earth for?

Private Detective—He was looking for you, madam.

Kind words never die, except when killed by ingratitude.

Myrtle—Do you know Helen Ownbey to speak to?

Madge—No, only to talk about.

Imaginative and active minded persons may easily come to live too much in the future. But the ever loafing ne'er-do-well lives only in the immediate present.

Wife—Dear, I've got something that I want to talk to you about.

Husband—Good! Usually you want to talk to me about something you haven't got.

SUNNY RAYS OF "SUNSHINE"
An open-minded man is young, no matter what year he was born in. . . . Patriots used to shout: "Give me liberty!" Now they leave off the last word. . . . The head never begins to swell until the mind stops growing. . . . Suppose you are a winner—you merely beat a fellow who isn't as good as you are, and anybody ought to do that. . . . The invention most needed by churches now is a collection plate that can be passed by radio. . . . If other people would only be as responsible as we are, what a Utopia this earth would be. . . . One trouble with tooting your own horn is that all too often you play a solo. . . . Business is like a seesaw—it stands still unless someone pushes it. . . . The difference between death and taxes is that you can die for your country once and be through with it.

Joe—Do you cash checks? Sam—Yes, but not yours. Joe—Isn't my face good? Sam—Yes, but I can't get it in the cash register.

Is Master Wood Worker
Lower Waterford, Vt.—William J. Morrison, sixty-eight, a cripple confined to a wheel chair for the last twenty-seven years, is a master wood craftsman.

Morrison, who was a blacksmith until he was stricken with infantile paralysis, has produced fine pieces of furniture with only a few simple tools and a vise. He has no power tools.

He built a model house, complete in every detail. The interior is furnished with electric lights, beds, sewing machine, kitchen sink, dishes and bathroom fixtures, including a bath mat and soap. A miniature man and woman sit before a fireplace.

Morrison used pine for the house, which he values at $300, and black cherry and oak for the furniture.

Your DEMAND made all this possible:

Part of "American's" Great Refinery at Texas City, Texas

(1) 1933 . . . World's greatest refining unit built at Texas City, Texas

(2) 1937 . . . New units added. New scientific equipment added. Refinery capacity doubled . . . more than ever world's greatest and most modern refining unit!

In 1933 the flat prairie-land at Texas City, Texas suddenly became alive with industry! Giant cranes tugging at mighty beams and girders! The staccato beat of riveting machines! The world's largest refining unit was being built.

Soon this great refinery was producing New Action American Gas . . . millions of gallons of it! The new refinery yielded the best regular gasoline we could possibly produce. And you recognized it for the value that it was. You bought millions of gallons of it . . . more and more and more!

As a result of your demand for American Gas, the giant cranes returned to the Texas coast. The builders came back! The world's greatest refining unit was no longer big enough to meet the increasing demand for American Gas.

We enlarged the refinery . . . more than doubled its capacity. But we did more than merely increase its size. Scientists, chemists, engineers, had been busy . . . pushing science's fight against crude oil! New, improved equipment was installed. New processes perfected and patented. And as a result of these new processes and equipment we can now build greater value into regular gasoline than was ever possible before!

The new gas is ready—NOW! We named it New Value American Gas—because of its extra built-in values.

It is known as a "sweet" gas—meaning it's pure, free from undesirable odors,—and no added chemicals! You'll say it's a "sweet performer," too—in mileage, economy, smoothness!

Really, New Value American Gas sets a new measure for value in regular gasoline! Try it—it's the greatest buy in "regular" that you've ever seen or used! Stop at the Sign of Greater Values—and fill your tank with New Value American Gas—then listen to your motor sing its song of smoothness and performance!

Provisions of the Zoning Ordinance

The following article has been contributed by the Zoning Board, which wishes to emphasize the necessity of compliance with the provisions of the zoning ordinance by persons building in the city of Kingston. In the past year several hundred buildings have been erected or altered without Zoning Board permits.

Among the laws in effect in the city of Kingston is the zoning ordinance, which has been upon the statute books since August 1928 when such ordinance was passed by the Common Council and was approved by the then Mayor Dempsey.

Zoning ordinances are enacted under and their constitutionality sustained by the so-called police power of the state, or the power to make legislative enactments in the interest of public health, safety, and the general welfare. The destruction of particular property values by the haphazard and inharmonious building of neighboring property owners was a particular cause contributing to the enactment of zoning ordinances. Comprehensive city planning has developed from the notion of zoning.

Zoning laws in this country had their origin about 30 years ago. One of the first extensive ordinances was that enacted by the city of New York in 1916. The constitutionality of such ordinances was sustained by the landmark case of the village of Euclid v. Ambler Realty Company, decided by the United States Supreme Court in 1926.

Since the zoning ordinance of the city of Kingston is a part of the law of the city, people are chargeable with knowledge of this ordinance to the same extent as they are chargeable with knowledge of any other ordinance or statute governing their conduct. Persons building are under a duty to acquaint themselves with and to comply with the provisions of the ordinance.

The zoning ordinance of the city of Kingston is simple, not difficult to understand nor encumbered with many provisions. One of the most fundamental distinctions set forth is the segregation of the city into use districts. The districts are three-fold: Residential, business and industrial. All property owners can recognize the good sense of this separation. No one with a house and lawn wants a smoky factory, a busy store or a noisy repair garage adjacent to his home. The zoning map is a part and parcel of the ordinance and is on file in the office of the city engineer.

Among the uses permitted in a residence district are: Dwellings, apartment houses, tenements, hotels, convents, the office of a professional person, a hairdressing or millinery establishment, club rooms, parks, playgrounds, schools, public buildings, libraries, hospitals and churches. In a residence district no building can be nearer the street line than the average distance from the street line of corresponding points on existing buildings 200 feet on each side of the building.

Among the uses permitted in a business district are: Stores, buildings, barber shops, bowling alleys, banks, billboards which are not less than three feet from the ground nor more than 14 feet high nor more than 25 feet in length, offices, restaurants, garages, and several enumerated types of manufacturing establishments with limitations as to the number of employees and the amount of power consumed.

All uses are permitted in an industrial district except those enumerated, which include such uses as acetylene gas manufacture, asphalt manufacturing, coal tar products manufacturing, and several others deemed inconsistent with public health and safety.

Section 8 of the zoning ordinance has several provisions relating to garages. Among other things it is therein provided:

"In residence districts private garage space may be provided for two cars on any parcel, the area not to exceed 400 square feet, and for one additional car if the area of the parcel exceeds 5,000 square feet, the area not to exceed 600 square feet. Space should not be allowed for more than one commercial vehicle, and any such commercial vehicle shall not exceed one and one-half tons weight or capacity, nor shall space be located or rented for more than one vehicle, which shall not be a commercial vehicle."

A private garage on a parcel solely composed of an interior lot or lots shall be distant not less than three feet from any side parcel line, and shall be distant not less than three feet from any rear parcel line, and excepting only where a garage is constructed as part of a residence structure, the rear line of the garage shall be not more than 20 feet from the rear lot line on lots of 100 feet depth or less, and upon lots in excess of 100 feet in depth the rear line of the garage shall be not less than 80 feet distant from the front lot line.

The zoning ordinance provides for the issuance of permits. Permits are secured upon the submission of plans at the office of the city engineer.

The zoning ordinance provides for a Zoning Board of three members. The present board consists of N. J. Jansen Fowler as president; Wesley L. Thompson and Vincent G. Connally. The board in the near future expects to have additional copies of the zoning ordinance printed, and they will then be available at the city engineer's office. In these new copies it is expected to incorporate several proposed changes to the law recommended by the Zoning Board to the Common Council, which will have a bearing on the proposed changes on June 1.

BONDOUT - HUDSON
NAVIGATION NEWS

A new boatyard will soon be completed and ready for operation in the village of Catskill. The new enterprise will be known as the "Hop-off-boat," and is located on the property formerly owned by the Knickerbocker Ice Co., which has been unused since the icehouse burned a number of years ago. The property has a frontage of 300 feet on the Catskill creek, with depth of eight feet of water within four feet of the dock at low tide. Runways will be erected and floats placed on the creek for the convenience of those using the facilities of the boatyard. This location has a record of historical interest in that it was one of the first places along the Hudson river from which shipments were made to New York—dating back to 1746.

Shoals in the vicinity of Coxsackie Island in the Hudson river have been cleared according to an announcement made by Major G. J. Nold, Albany Area Army Engineer, the government dredge, "Dewitt Clinton," which did the work, has been sent south of Coxsackie to continue dredging in the 27 foot ship channel—a project which is expected to require 17 days for its completion.

A number of students of the Jefferson Heights School enjoyed a boat ride under the direction of their teacher. They embarked at Catskill on the steamer "Robert Fulton" of the Hudson River Dayline, and sailed to Kingston Point, where they had a picnic and then returned home on the steamer "Alexander Hamilton."

The little ferry "Saugerties" is making regular trips between the Saugerties landing and Tivoli. This small boat is much the same design as the new Catskill ferry, "Queen Mary," which is also running on regular schedule.

The Hudson River Dayline is now running steamers on regular schedule. Saturday morning a delegation of almost 200 people left Albany on the "Peter Stuyvesant," disembarking at Kingston Point and sailing back up the river on the "Alexander Hamilton." On Saturday evening the "Chauncey M. DePew" made a special trip up the Hudson as far as Catskill, bringing many people from the metropolis for the week-end holiday.

Dance Wednesday
At Wittenberg Club

Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock at the clubhouse of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club, a dance will be held as a social side issue of the township sesquicentennial celebration.

Featured will be Charles Gardiner and his orchestra from this city, and his two tap-dancing daughters, who will provide part of the entertainment. The public is invited.

Activities at the club are numerous and the site has become a haven for sportsmen from hereabouts and the metropolitan area. The club has a hangup ball team and is seeking games. Anyone interested may telephone James A. Shultz, club president, Woodstock 28-F-6.

New members received into the club are: John J. Flinnerty, Jr., Albert Van Keuren, Emerson Mayes, Harold Van Kleeck, of Kingston; Kenneth Van Wagener, of Willow; Norman Cole, George Shortell, of West Hurley; Ted Longendyke, Saugerties; Carl Sutters and Mario Vitetta, New York city.

Spots on Ermine Reveal

Rank of High Personages

Ermine has always been considered an emblem of purity, owing to its cleanliness and whiteness, says a writer in the Montreal Herald. In the reign of Edward III the wearing of this fur was forbidden to all except members of the royal family. It is adopted by monarchs and high personages of the realm as part of their state robes, but anyone who can afford to wear so costly a fur is at liberty to do so.

The ermine worn by the monarch is closely marked with spots. The cape of a duke is decorated with four rows of black spots on each side. That of a marquis has three and a half rows, four on the right side and three on the left. A viscount is privileged to wear two and a half rows of spots, and the ermine cape of a baron is trimmed with two rows of spots on each side. The peeresses' capes are spotted according to their husband's rank in the peerage. The state robes of judges and magistrates are trimmed with spotless ermine.

Nature has been very kind to the ermine, and has provided it with a splendid means of self-protection. During the winter months the regions in which it lives are snow-covered. To prevent its being seen easily as it runs about, its summer coat of reddish-brown becomes snow-white; the only bit which does not change color is the tail, which is always jet black. The trappers seek the ermine only in winter time, when its coat is white, for it is then that the fur is most valuable commercially. Ermine is one of the most valued furs of the market, and commands a very high price.

High School News

On Wednesday morning, May 26, a special German assembly was held in the high school auditorium for German students and their friends. At which time several members of the German classes, attired in German costumes, entertained the large number present. The first number in the special musical program was a piano solo entitled, "Nacktuck" by F. by Schumann, rendered by Shirley Berman. The audience next heard the voice that on many similar occasions entertained them, the golden voice of Dorothy Groves, singing, "Wiegendie" or the "Cradle Song" by Brahms. Miss Groves was accompanied on the piano by Shirley Berman. Marion Steketee next played a piano solo entitled, "Allegro" from the Sonata, Opus 2, number one, by Beethoven. Harry Elendford, local pianist, who on many similar occasions played before the student body, completed the short musical program by playing a piano solo, "Jaune The Theme and Variation", from the Sonata, Opus 26, by Beethoven.

On Thursday morning during the assembly motion sound pictures were shown through the courtesy of Mr. Stuart of the Stuart Film Company of Mount Vernon. The two short reels were shown for educational purposes and was highly praised by the students. The first reel, "Tiny Water Animals", showed where the "Tiny Water Animals" are found, and also where and how they are formed. The next reel entitled, "A Trip Through the Coffee Continent", was narrated by Lowell Thomas. Mr. Thomas tells the "Coffee Continent" in South America with Brazil and Colombia the largest producers of coffee. "After three years," Mr. Thomas says, "The tree begins to bear fruit and immediately the people start stripping the trees." Then after being washed and dried in the sun for 14 days they are shipped to the hauling mill where they are tested by experts.

From the hauling mill it is sent to the United States where it is sold to the public.

Gettysburg Address.

During assembly on Friday morning Gilbert Richter, a senior, read the Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" in memory of those who left school to fight for their country during the war.

Asks Parade Support.

Eugene Froer, past commander of the American Legion, spoke to both A and B assemblies and asked the student body as a whole to come and parade on Memorial Day with the Memorial Day committee and have their fine band lead them.

Theron Culver, vice principal, addressed assembly students, saying: "It is absolutely necessary for the students who plan to work this summer to have their working papers filled out correctly and if any one between the ages of 14 and 16 years plans to work this summer have a special vacation working permit." People who work on farms do not need papers if they are 16 years of age or over. Mr. Culver wants all those who plan on summer jobs to please have his papers filled out at the earliest possible moment.

Subject Cards.

Mr. Dunn announced that Tuesday subject cards would be filled out and that every student be prepared to know what subjects he plans on taking next term.

One Act Play

On Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the high school auditorium the students of Newburgh Free Academy entertained the A assembly students by presenting a one act play entitled, "A Night at the Inn by Lord Dunsany. This has been the first in a series of exchange plays between Kingston and Newburgh and it is successful will become a yearly affair. The play treats an incident of a yarn concerned with the fate of a "dilapidated English gentleman" and a gang of sailor-robbers who have stolen a ruby from the head of an Indian idol, Klesh. The action taking place in an abandoned inn in a lonely place.

On Wednesday afternoon, May 26, the Kingston high harmonica band entertained at the Home for the Aged at Washington avenue. The members of the band were conveyed to the home by Mrs. Woodard and Mrs. Matthews. Attired in cowboy costumes, the band played many western songs. The members present were: Don Hicks, the leader; Frank Wood, Al Fassbender, Cliff Every and Charles Myers.

Murder Revealed Crime

A strange case of the lack of observation occurred during the assassination of President Marie Caron of France in Lyons on June 24, 1894. Accompanied by three friends, two grooms and surrounded by mounted police, he was riding in his state carriage when a man jumped on the running board and fatally stabbed him. The first inkling of the tragedy, according to a writer in Collier's Weekly, came from the murderer, who attracted attention to himself when, running down the street, he shouted, "Vive l'anarchie!"

A Child Guidance Feature

TROUBLE SHOOTER

Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg (left) keeps busy straightening out the family problems of divorced parents who flock to her New York office for advice. (An office assistant portrays divorcee in this picture.)

WISE DIVORCEE TELLS CHILD DAD'S NEITHER DEVIL, SAINT

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

AP Feature Service Writer

New York—A divorced mother isn't just being mean when she tells her children that papa is a rascal. She is using poor psychology.

But she should not swing to the other extreme, says Mrs. Sidonie Gruenberg, director of the Child Study association, and make him a faultless hero.

Favors Telling Child

For in either case, Mrs. Gruenberg has found while dealing with hundreds of divorced couples, the child will see for himself that dad isn't such a bad fellow, but that undeniably he has a few faults.

Mrs. Gruenberg favors telling the child as much as he can understand about the reason for the separation.

The association's family adjustment and consultation service is Mrs. Gruenberg's pet, which she refers to proudly as a "preventive measure."

Sample Case

"One case which has been in our hands for almost a year is only now being settled," says Mrs. Gruenberg, herself a grandmother.

"Two children had been living with their divorced mother, and visiting their father, who had remarried. The mother hated the new wife, and would use the children as pawns to find out what her successor was like.

"She was anxious to get the children away while the father was trying to keep them nearby. So the youngsters were being pulled back and forth."

The problem finally was solved to the satisfaction of both parents. The children live in California with their mother but will spend summers with their father.

Ordinarily, however, Mrs. Gruenberg tries to arrange for the children to live permanently with one parent, in order to give them stability.

and the first attraction at the Orpheum is the story of a man with a get-rich-quick complex and what it does to him and his associates. Porter Hall and Charlotte Wynters are featured. "Captain's Kid" is the story of an old salt who falls in love with a little waif and the picture is nicely sentimental and often exciting. Sybil Jason, Guy Kibbee, May Robson, Jane Bryan and Dick Purcell are featured.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same. Kingston: "Night Must Fall" and "That Man's Here Again." One of the strangest and most arresting pictures ever filmed comes to the Kingston screen in "Night Must Fall," the weird story of a baby-faced killer whose attraction to women was so strong that they were trapped by his charm and killed by him in the sheer enjoyment of killing. Staged on Broadway this past fall to the plaudits of the critics, the play has been made into an even more brilliant motion picture. Although this production should cause a real studier or two, it is one of the most unique of the year's films and Robert Montgomery, as the child-like killer, gives a screen performance of unusual depth and ability. He is supported by Rosalind Russell and this M-G-M play is a hit picture to put on the don't miss list. "That Man's Here Again" is a comedy offering, built around the antics of the jittery Hugh Herbert and it is fairly funny throughout.

Orpheum: "Doddsworth" Sinclair Lewis' best selling novel of a typical American business man who goes to Europe on vacation and discovers many unknown things about himself, his wife and his family, was one of last year's finest screen achievements and Walter Huston, Billie Holiday and Constance Collier, "We Have Our Moments" brings back the once famous Ellers-Dunn romantic team in a comedy that is a mixture of sorrow and sunshine. With James Dunn and Sally Eilers co-starred, the fine cast features Thurston Hall, David Niven and Warren Hymer.

Orpheum: "Let's Make a Million" and "Captain's Kid." The comical Edward Everett Horton is starred in one of those interesting bits of impossibility often found on the screen Stuhley home, is a widely known director associated with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio. He and his wife motored here from Hollywood, it being Mr. Wheelwright's first trip to this section since going west some 15 years ago. Others at Mrs. Stuhley's week-end party were Mrs. Lily Martine and daughter, Marjorie, Mr. and Mrs. George Syme and Robert Brown, all of New York city.

The caterpillars are causing even more damage to shade tree foliage than was the case during last spring's visitation of the insects. The leaves on many young maples have been riddled while hordes of the pests also are feeding in the larger trees. Next to the maple, the ash appears to be most frequently gobbled out by the caterpillars for their destructive feeding operations.

It is thought by some residents that the great influx of Decoration Day visitors to this section of the Catskills was the largest holiday rush in many years. Camps, boarding houses and tourist homes along Route 28 and side roads were swamped with city people and their cars jammed the highways for the better part of three days. Business people naturally are greatly encouraged by this gratifying early season showing and are hopeful that similar conditions will obtain throughout the summer months.

Mrs. Edna Hamilton and Miss Josie Hogan of Kingston spent the week-end with Miss Hamilton's grandmother, Mrs. Julia Hogan, in the village center.

Brooklyn young men at the Francis Doyle camp along the Ridge Road for the holidays were: Larry Brandt, Edward J. Smith, Kenneth Olsen and Jack Marr. The members of the party are greatly pleased with their new vacation spot and they expect to spend a good share of the summer here, following the close of school in June.

Mrs. Clement Chase of Wayne, Pa., is againjouring at the Chase bungalow colony on Winchell mountain.

A new Pontiac car, said to have been driven by Ben Baldwin of Kingston, came to grief shortly after noon Sunday on the state road near Hogback. The machine tore out a corner of Louis Thell's barn and turned over several times after being forced off the concrete pavement by another car. A woman motorist received a cut knee and the car was badly damaged, as a result of the smashup. Automobile traffic on Route 28 apparently was the heaviest in years from Friday night through Monday.

Tracy Alexander, a former Olive Bridge boy, and family, were weekend guests at Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander's in the Tonche Mountain neighborhood. Mr. Alexander for several years has been engaged in farming at Livingston, Columbia county.

Holiday guests at "The Cairn-gorm," home of Mrs. Jane Stuhley, included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frank Wheelwright of Hollywood, Calif. Mr. Wheelwright, who in the past has been a frequent visitor to the old village of Brodhead where his parents conducted a general store business.

Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Van Wagenen of Kingston, together with their daughter, Mrs. Rufus Van Aken and the latter's children of New York, were week-end visitors to "Chalet Elaine," the Van Wagenen country home overlooking the west basin.

One of the most showy displays of spring bloom along Route 28 at this time is that which borders the road side of the residence grounds at Harry Bailey's stock farm at Cold Brook. The Gearon summer home on Church Hill also has many of these beautiful flowering shrubs, while numerous homes throughout the twin villages have at least one bush in the front yard. In the meadows, wild asters rear their purple heads above the fast maturing grasses and the paint-brush weed is preparing to blazon the fields with its gorgeous scarlet splendor of early summer.

Burts Wheat and family of New York called on Shokan friends the latter part of the week. Mr. Wheat, who has employment in the city, states that possibly he will replace his Shokan residence, destroyed by fire last April. The Wheat garage still is standing on the family lot at the intersection of the state and mountain roads.

JAMES Constable of Kelley's Corners was a recent visitor at the home of Mrs. Bertha Constable and other relatives in this section. Mr. Constable's early home was near High Point, on the west side of the Esopus Creek.

George Sherry of Kingston was numbered among the Kingston business men seen on our streets Friday. Mr. Sherry was employed on Ashokan Reservoir construction work about 25 years ago.

Benjamin Van Steenburgh, whose eyes became seriously affected about a week ago, is unable to continue his duties with the reservoir force. His sight has become very poor, so that he can scarcely make his way to and from the barn with the aid of a cane.

Colonials Win Over Giants Before Crowd by 7-2 Score

Another Sparkling Boxing Bill on Top For Friday Night

Before one of the largest crowds of the season, the Kingston Colonials hammered out a 7-2 decision over the Boston Royal Giants, Memorial Day, at Pan-Am field on the Saugerties road, pounding Merrill, the survivor of the visiting club for 15 rounds before he was yanked in the seventh. Shackett on the Colonial round, held the Royals to five scattered hits up to the eighth, when he was forced to retire on account of an injured arm. Charley Lay relieved him and, although he allowed a run, handed three batsmen to stave a rally.

Charley Tiano and Carlie Husta showed the way for the Colonials at the plate. Tiano made two singles, a double and triple for a perfect record. Husta banged out a double and two singles. Les Brink starred in the field with a nice pickup and Mac Mano made a sparkling shoestring catch. Mac and Bill Thomas each got two hits. Earl Benjamin featured behind the bat for the home owners.

How the Colonials got their runs: Second—C. Tiano singled, advanced to second on Les Brink's sacrifice bunt and scored on Thomas' single.

Fourth—Lay grounded out. C. Tiano singled. Thomas safe on error and took second. Both scored on M. Tiano's hit.

Sixth—C. Tiano doubled, Brink, Thomas and M. Tiano hit successive singles for a pair of runs.

Seventh—Husta singled, scored on Lay's triple. C. Tiano tripled, scoring Lay.

Kinneys Break Even To Play Kaplans

In its week-end softball schedule at Napanoch, the Kinney shoe team broke even with the prison club, winning the first game 12-6 and dropping the second, 6-4. This evening the Kinneys will tangle with the Appieknockers at the Kingston Fair Grounds. A crowd is expected to witness the match.

Jimmy Costello pitched against Napanoch in the first game with his battery mate, Cliff Van Valkenburgh, doing the receiving. For Napanoch, Bates tossed with Moskow behind the bat. Saunders starred for the shoemakers with a triple, two singles and a homer. Warren Smith got two walks and a single to account for three runs. Hyatt and Bill Kennoch banked out a homer apiece.

The Kinneys are scheduled for a return engagement at Napanoch on Sunday, June 20.

Canadian Wins Boston Marathon

Salisbury Beach, Mass., June 1 (AP)—Wiry Walter Young of Verdun, Que., had only a mild word today to describe his victory over 51 rivals yesterday in a Lawrence-to-the-sea marathon—"Fortunate."

"I never ran in such heat before and I regard myself as fortunate to do so well," the victor of the Boston A. A.'s April 19 grind said after capturing his second marathon in six weeks.

Young finished the 26 miles, 585 yards in two hours, 50 minutes, 52.25 seconds. Clarence de Mar, the Keene, N. H., veteran, came in second in 2:55.35 and Leo Glard of Brockton was third in 3:00.44.

Spring Lake Team Scores 3rd Straight

Playing in White Plains Sunday, the Spring Lake Horseshoe pitchers defeated the home club, 20-16, as Chet Albertson, former state champ, pitching for the Springers won five out of six games. Bailey, Roosa and Swint came out with four each, and Fisher broke even with three wins and three setbacks. Martin, Kelder and Rappaport showed up well.

The victory was Spring Lake's third straight this season. Last season the team won 18. Manager Kelder considers his club, which is fully uniformed, one of the best aggregations of barnyard golfers in New York state.

The game between Fair Street and St. Remy was postponed.

STRUCK BOY AND BICYCLE,
BUT DID NOT STOP.

Vincent Norton, 16, son of John
J. Norton of 21 Abbey street, reported Monday that his bicycle had been struck and damaged and his clothing torn by a passing automobile driver, who went on without stopping, headed south.

Deputy Sheriff Vredenburgh,
Brown and McCullough took young Norton to Highland where he identified one William Levy, 20, of New York, as the man who had struck him.

Levy had been taken out of the long line-up near Highland by Sergeant Hulse of the state troopers, who had been told of the incident by teletype.

Levy told the officers that he had
"looked back" after striking the boy

him to go on. After settling for the

Dean Connelly's
25th Anniversary

A number of Kingston people went to Poughkeepsie Sunday to attend
the jubilee ceremonies held at St.
Peter's Church in honor of the pastor,
the Very Rev. Stephen P. Connelly.

Dean Connelly, who was a former assistant at St. Mary's Church,

Kingston, celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination by a solemn high Mass at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The occasion was a most brilliant one, the Mass being preceded by a procession of acolytes, boy and girl scouts, and visiting clergy, the jubilarian being escorted by a guard of honor of four uniformed Knights of Columbus. The church was filled with parishioners, and also out-of-town guests from his native

city of Port Jervis, and his former parishes in Kingston, Newburgh and Millbrook. The preacher at the Mass was the Very Rev. Monsignor Henry F. O'Carroll of St. Patrick's Church of Newburgh, at which church Dean Connelly served several years as an assistant.

Following the Mass and Benediction, a reception and luncheon was given to out-of-town guests at St.
Peter's School Hall.

This evening a parish reception will be held in the school hall when an entertainment will be given in honor of the jubilarian.
